

BEST OF BEDFORD

April 24, 2006 Issue 164

92 points FALCHINI SUPERTUSCAN "CAMPORA" 2000

"Riccardo Falchini evidently decided to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the 1985 Campora, the first outstanding red wine from San Gimignano, with another wine virtually at the same level. The 2000 Campora, in fact, has the same pure and focused Cabernet fruit, firm structure, and polished, elegant tannins of that first breakthrough wine and should be good for another 15 years of fine drinking."

91 points UMANI RONCHI ROSSO CONERO "CUMARO" 2001

"The top Montepulciano offering is the best in the history of the house, ample and spicy in its aromas, full and broad on the palate and with an inner-core of concentration and strength that should guarantee another dozen years of life."

92 points CASTELLUCCIO "MASSICONE" 2001

"The 2001 Massicone adds Cabernet to the blend, and the deep ruby color, the sweet notes of berries, plums and dark chocolate, the broad and plushy texture and the important concentration are all quite impressive. Drink 2006-2020."

91 points CASTELLUCCIO "RONCO DELLE GINESTRE" 2001

"The 2001 Ronco delle Ginestre, always the fuller and richer of the two Sangiovese offerings, is riper and denser in texture, powerful in aroma and flavor with ample notes of chocolate, burnt sugar, and licorice and an extra-weight on the finish which suggests another 10-12 years of life."
